Requirements: An appropriate legal degree obtained at any university in South Africa, which includes at least the following courses: Law of Evidence, Civil Procedure, Criminal Procedure, Criminal Law and Interpretation of Statutes, are invited to submit their application to attend the above-mentioned prosecutorial training. Furthermore, applicants who are in their final year of study towards a 3-year legal degree at a university in South Africa, with the courses mentioned above, may also be considered subject to the successful completion of the relevant qualification prior to commencing the programme. A written contract between the National Prosecuting Authority and the Trainee Prosecutor outlining the conditions of service must be entered into and such contract will be valid and binding between the parties. The successful completion of an entry examination may form part of the selection process.

Duties: The Prosecutors' primary function is to conduct prosecutions and attend to matters incidental thereto. Prosecutors are the gatekeepers of criminal law. They represent public interest in the criminal justice process. When carrying out their duties, Prosecutors should at all times comply with the Code of Conduct and observe Policy Directives as provided for in the National Prosecuting Authority Act, 32 of 1998.

Applications must be submitted to the Tutor at the training centre where the applicant would like to write the entry examination and be trained. Applicants may only apply to one of the training centres.

Written applications must be submitted on form Z83, obtainable from any Public Service department and must be accompanied by a detailed CV (not exceeding 5 pages), together with certified copies of matric and degree certificates and in the case of current final-year students, last year's final and current mid-year results, as well as Identity Document.
